

A free press is our only safeguard against tyranny, and if monopolies are created in the media and power over what is reported is allowed to rest in the hands of the few, then our free press will be nothing more than an illusion.